COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Board of Assessors have set the 1959 tax rate at 30 mills. This is an increase of 3.4 mills over 1958. The total valuation of the town is approximately the same as last year. The increase in the rate is due to increased appropriations at the last annual town meeting and an $800 increase in the county tax.

A school for tax collectors was held in Augusta on Aug. 3rd and 4th. This is the 3rd year of the school and attendance was larger this year than at any previous school. The first major revision of the automobile excise tax law was passed by the last legislature. Some of the more important points are as follows: The rate on house trailers has been changed to 20 mills 1st year, 16 mills 2nd year, 12 mills 3rd year, and 10 mills for 4th and succeeding years, with a minimum of $10.

The maximum on cars after the 7th year has been increased from $10 to $15. Motor vehicle owners are subject to a personal property tax if the excise tax is not paid prior to commitment of taxes to the collector.

Excise taxes on farm tractors may be paid anytime prior to the tax commitment, instead of using an April 1st deadline.

The registration fee on passenger cars and station wagons will be a flat $15.00 each, regardless of size, make, or horsepower.

The boating law becomes effective next April 1st. Any boat of more than 10 horsepower shall be licensed. The fee, $2.00 for 3 years. A number plate will be furnished to be attached to the bow of the boat. Later this year application blanks will be available at the Town Office for those that are required to license their boat.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Expect Skiway Open In December

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Sunday River Skiway Corporation on Monday, August 10, it was voted to proceed with construction of what will be Maine's third major ski area.

Immediate plans call for erection of a 3,000 foot T-bar lift on Barker Mountain, just north of the town of Bethel. An open slope, 200 feet in width, has already been cleared to the 3,000 foot mark, and clearing is nearing completion on two other major trails. The lift line has been cleared and final grading on it is now being finished. The road leading to the foot of the mountain has been cleared, graded, and is now being graveled.

The area lies in the center of what has proven to be a heavy snow belt, and observations taken at the mountain over the past few years bear out the fact that snow falls early and stays late into April. The area is easily accessible via good roads from Portland (72 miles), Lewiston (50 miles), and Rumford (24 miles). Boston is only three and one half hours distant via the New Hampshire and Maine Turnpikes.

The area will be served by parking areas, lodge, snack bar, ski shop and ski school. Eventual plans call for erection of a second 1800 foot lift which will make accessible the snow fields at the summit of the mountain. Novice trails are now being cleared which will supplement terrain already cleared for the intermediate and expert skier.

The directors of the corporation anticipate that the area will be in operation by December of this year. Recent release of escrow funds voted by the stockholders on Monday night has enabled the directors to regard this date as a virtual certainty. Additional housing facilities in the area are nearing completion in preparation for early opening.

The present schedule calls for final grading and seeding of the 3200 foot open slope in early September and the completion of a 4,000 foot intermediate trail and 2,000 foot novice trail by the first of October. By that time the lodge should be well under construction.

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

EIGHT MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF '24 RETURN TO GOULD HOMECOMING DAY

The pulling power of a Gould Academy Homecoming Day was apparent on Sunday, Aug. 9, when alumni and alumnae from many years back — and from all over the United States, literally — filled the Marian True Gehring Students Home dining room almost to capacity for the Homecoming Day luncheon.

Particularly pleased with themselves, for the good showing they made numerically on this occasion, were the members of the Gould Class of 1924. Thirty-five years out of school, they mustered a delegation of 13 for this reunion—eight former students, two husbands, one wife, one daughter and one son. They had done even better at the June 5 Alumni Day reunion, with a delegation of 14 class members in Bethel for the day.

A newspaperman is supposed to have a "nose for news." The one newspaperman in 1924's reunion last Sunday insisted there was nothing very newsworthy in the fact that eight old Gould graduates had come back to Bethel that day. But he was overruled—and commanded to "write it up and send it to the Citizen."

So, here's what the Gould Class of '24 considered newsworthy:

One of their members, Mrs. Burton Linscott (Genie Saunders), in Bethel visiting her mother, had come from far-off Honolulu, where her husband is an Episcopal clergyman and where she teaches in the Epiphany School.

Taylor D. Clough, an accountant in the New York Telephone Company's Manhattan office, had come from his home in Summit, N. J., with his wife and daughter.

Louise Shordon Day, who had been at the June reunion, again came from Gorham for last Sunday's get-together. Mrs. Day is a busy home-maker and a part-time nurse at Buxton Hospital.

Emeline V. Heath had come up from Boston—as she had, also, for the June Alumni Day. She is assistant to the general manager of Boston's Hub Syndicate, one of whose features—a daily puzzle known as the "Twinsgram"—appears in newspapers throughout the country.

Ernest Foster, who had been at the June reunion, was on hand again for the Aug. 9 gathering accompanied by his son. Mr. Foster has been custodian of the county buildings and grounds at South Paris for the last 23 years.

Shirley Brooks Hobbs, whose name is well known in radio and television circles because of her work with the Department of Agriculture's Maine Extension Service, attended.

In Memory of WINIFRED HALL BARTLETT Home to "Winnie" was the dearest spot on earth. The mountains, the river, her large comfortable old house, every tree, shrub, and flower, were precious to her.

Skill with her hands combined with an innate eye for beauty caused her to spend happy hours commemorating favorite scenes on canvas.

Today many friends' homes have hanging on their walls artistic paintings done by her and generously given as tokens of affection and friendship.

Reunions of Gould alumni or merely get-togethers of old friends gave her delight. Her quick and whimsical wit always added to the pleasure of a group wherein she was a part.

Overwhelming sorrow came to her long years ago in the death of one of her three sons. The two remaining sons and their children and children's children have been a comfort to her in the evening of her life.

After the death of her husband two decades ago, "Winnie" sometimes assisted as a practical nurse in caring for the ill and infirm. She seemed especially fond of helping aged people.

More recently she shared her home with her only brother and in his final illness gave him devoted care.

Winifred Hall Bartlett typified the old-fashioned virtues of loyalty to friends and church organizations, thoughtfulness toward neighbors and an intense love for home and family. —G. S.

Both the June and August reunions, accompanied by her husband. She has done graduate work at Cornell and at Colorado State College, and was recently elected president of the Maine Agents' Association.

Alfreda Wheeler York and her husband had driven to Bethel for the day from their home in Plainfield, Vt. For the past 30 years, Mrs. York has been a public school teacher.

A newspaper account of a PTA teacher-appreciation program recently had this to say of her: "Mrs. Ladeau spoke of Mrs. Alfreda York as the 'school mother,' saying all the students looked to her for guidance and help in all of their problems and she was always ready to counsel and help them."

The newspaperman, whose opinion that none of this was newsworthy was overruled, was Edward H. Carlson of Kenta Hill, editorial writer for The Daily Kennebec Journal and The Waterville Morning Sentinel—whose first bit of material ever to make the grade in print was an editorial in the Gould Academy Herald in June, 1924.

Adalbert Dunn lying the life in a 325 foot installation in the Wendell and Adalbert Dunn orchard in Buckfield. This job was recently completed in cooperation with the Oxford County Soil Conservation District.

BETHEL MAN COMPLETES BASIC TRAINING

Stanley H. Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Fuller of Bethel, has just returned home from basic training in the U. S. Navy at Great Lakes, Ill.

Mr. Fuller enlisted May 28, 1959. During his spare time he was on the Blue Jackets' choir, one of the more famous choirs of the Navy. The choir had the pleasure recently, at the Grant Park Memorial Service in honor of the Navy war heroes, to sing for the president of the United States and the Queen of England.

Mr. Fuller is now a 1st Lt.

On Aug. 23 he will go to Key West, Fla., attending a class "a" sonar fleet school, majoring in submarine and aviation detection and electronics. He will be there for six months with a possibility of going to a class "p" advanced sonar school at San Diego, Calif.

COUNTY CIVIL DEFENSE EMERGENCY HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT AT RUMFORD

Oxford County Civil Defense officials are busy storing a 200-bed emergency hospital which arrived recently from national CD headquarters, County Director Frank Bean of Bryant Pond stated.

One of 18 to be based in Maine, the improvised hospital will be located in Rumford, under the direction of Leo Moroney, Town Manager, and G. D. Dunton of Rumford, and will be an overflow unit of the Rumford Community Hospital.

Bean said this particular location was chosen because it is one of the qualified points in this part of Maine which can service key eastern cities, including the critical target cities of Boston and New York. It would also service evacuees from Maine target areas, and would be part of a stockpile of medical supplies and equipment.

dispersed outside target areas. The hospital will be used now for display, recruiting and training purposes, and is designed to supplement existing hospital beds for mass casualty care in case of enemy attack.

The $35,000 hospital consists of 360 packages weighing 18½ tons, transportable in one van. Pattered after the Mobile Army Hospital, it includes ten 20-bed wards, three operating rooms, laboratory, supply and sorting room, shock treatment ward, field X-ray unit and surgical equipment to treat 400 persons in the first 48 hours.

The CD emergency hospital requires 230 skilled and unskilled workers to staff it.

Medical supplies will be stockpiled with the unit for emergency use. State Director Walter H. Kennett said the CD Agency is placing additional 200-bed emergency hospitals at other key locations in the state.

BALANCED SCALES

There is a different spirit when Year moves into the eighth month. Twice in that segment of time that brings a complete climatic cycle, Nature pauses while consolidating its forces for the major change ahead. In February and again in August, he who is sensitive can feel the brooding expectancy. Gone is Spring's pulsing urgency; gone is the onrush of early maturing plants. Now comes the quiet interlude toward maturity.

August dawns are moist and fog fingers hover in the river valleys. Lawns are spanned with cobwebs and the grass is wet on a boy's bare feet as he drives the cows to pasture. As the sun pulls into a pale blue sky, heat begins to press against the earth. At high noon the landscape lies hot and scarred. Rivers and creeks run quietly in their paths toward a distant sea.

The strident voice of a cricket in the aster bed beneath the kitchen window accentuates the silence. Occasionally a young crow complains from the woodland and a phoebe teases its name into the hot stillness. On short fields grasshoppers circle in short, staccato flights; his humbees drone by, searching for nectar.

One is tempted to think that Nature has struck a balance and that Time is standing still. But beneath the heat and humidity, beneath the lassitude and eighth month brooding, the powerful forces of the turning year are working their ordained destiny. Neither Nature nor man can balance life; always Time goes forward and with Time comes change. August leads to the harvest and in the fall corn in the ear. Even so a year matures in its cycle, so can man if he learns from the spring and August of his life,

MAN'S RECIPE CHOCOLATE - PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

It is interesting to ponder the grains that have helped to feed mankind for some 10,000 years. There are millet, oats, barley, wheat, rye, maize or Indian corn and rice.

Millet is the oldest grain food, and so far as my research shows, it was cultivated in China about 3000 B. C. Barley was the next important grain and in the centuries following, was regarded more favorably than oats. The knights of the Middle Ages considered oats fit only for horses. Wheat became the leader of grains, and white flour to a majority of people is still the best. Both rye and rice, however, are vitally important in great areas of the world. The discovery of raised bread was an epochal event in the history of food—and the discovery made wheat king of the grains.

For today's cookie use one half cup butter or margarine melted, one half cup peanut butter, one and a fourth cups sugar, one half cup brown sugar, one half teaspoon vanilla, two tablespoons warm water, one and a third cups flour, three fourths teaspoon baking powder, one half teaspoon salt, two squares chocolate melted.

Mix melted butter, peanut butter and sugars. Add egg in which vanilla and warm water have been mixed. Blend well.

Sift in flour with other dry ingredients. Beat for a couple of minutes. Add chocolate and mix.

Roll in balls the size of a pullet's egg or a whiffle larger. Place on greased cookie sheets about two inches apart. Flatten with fork dipped in very hot water. Bake at 350 about 16-17 minutes, or until done.

and mature into the richness of the harvest years.

TODAY'S Meditation

Thursday, August 13

Read Psalm 24

I lift up my eyes to the hills. From whence does my help come? My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth. (Psalm 121:1, 2. RSV.)

A BOY and his father were climbing a mountain, together with a guide who had been employed to lead them to the top. As they stopped to rest at a particularly beautiful spot, they looked down on the valleys far below.

"Guide," asked the boy, "do you ever see God here?"

"My boy," said the guide, "it is certain so I hardly see anything else I see Him in the trees, in the mountain streams, in the blooming flowers, I see Him everywhere."

The handwork of God is seen in the great out-of-doors. God fashions every leaf; He covers the hillsides with flowers of every description.

As God has had His presence known in nature, is it any wonder that He is especially anxious to mold His children in the image of Christ.

A soul is far more precious to God than the trees and the flowers. As we subject ourselves to His will, we become more like Christ, so that others may look into our lives and see Him abiding there.

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the beauty of the out-of-doors. As Thou hast made Thy presence known in nature, so abide in our hearts that we may profess Thee before men. In the Redeemer's name we pray to Thee. Amen.

Thought For The Day "Will the world see Christ in my life today?"

They have also been blamed as responsible for the over production in poultry, added Fred. Pricing policies of food retailers has come in for criticism by the National Broiler Council. Failure of the trade in some cases to reduce retail prices in accordance with changes in the wholesale market has hurt the sales of poultry and resulted in market gluts.

But let the blame lie where it may, the situation must work itself out and a sound situation eventually must be established. Most forecasters predict a gradually improving situation, beginning this summer. Many producers with high production costs and those not soundly financed, will unfortunately be forced out of business.

Fred explained. Those responsible for the financing of a large share of the production will, it is to be hoped, take a more cautious attitude on encouraging expansion in the future.

Suggestions to producers on how to meet the situation are contained in Extension Circular 346, "Poultrymen at the Crossroads." This leaflet is available at county offices of the Extension Service or from the Bulletin Office, Extension Service, University of Maine, Orono.

Consumers, in the meantime, can help the situation by eating more eggs and poultry meat, said Fred. Certainly in these times of rising costs, poultry products at less than pre-war prices represent an unusually "good buy."

In spite of the gloomy tone of the current poultry picture, the Maine industry, located as it is in the best market in the country, is in a favorable competitive position. Over the long run, the outlook is far from discouraging.

MOTOR MAIDS

You Can Help Accident Rate

By Marsha Johnson Dodge Safety Consultant

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.—When driving in California, whether you are a resident or tourist, you had better be extra cautious and conscientious about obeying all traffic laws.

Bradford M. Crittenden, new commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, is a calm, soft-spoken man, but he also is a very determined man. He's determined to reduce traffic deaths and injuries in California.

Commissioner Crittenden admits he's facing a big chore. There are more than 7,500,000 licensed drivers in California, not to mention the thousands of tourists visiting the state each year. But he has faith in people.

"We are trying to persuade California's motorists to use 'self-enforcement' tactics while driving. This means, simply, to obey voluntarily all traffic laws at all times."

He wants motorists to cut down on speeding, failing to yield the right of way, making improper turns and driving on the wrong side of the road.

"Because people do cause accidents, we know that only through the action of people can we reduce traffic accidents. We can't expect perfection, but if we can reduce such violations to the minimum, we could dramatically reduce our traffic deaths and injuries."

The State Police remind us that, in the great majority of traffic accidents, there is a violation of law. They point out, further, that traffic laws are passed to prevent accidents and to protect people from being killed and injured on the streets and highways. However, the only way to get this protection is to obey these laws.

Mrs. Vivian Barlow and Mrs. Elizabeth Richards were in Augusta on August 10 on school business.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Swain and family were in Maidstone, Vt., on August 9 to visit with friends who have a summer camp at Maidstone Lake.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, our worthy brother Eugene McAllister has ceased his long earthly pilgrimage, be it resolved:

That we, the members of Bear River Grange, conscious of our brother's lack of a normal capacity for a life of true enjoyment and efficient service can be but glad that he is at rest.

That in spite of his recognized misfortune, his unimpeachable honesty and his desire to be friendly and helpful, we might do well to emulate.

That these resolutions be filed in our Grange records and that a copy be sent to the Bethel Citizen for publication.

From my front porch...

"...I watch the world go by."

This hero of this "adult Western" is the Sheriff — but he doesn't shoot anybody.

He's a fast two-gun crack-shot — but he doesn't try to beat anyone to the draw.

He has his trouble makers in a frontier town — but he settles everything satisfactorily with a sweet reasonableness and a broad grin. He's a well-dressed tenderfoot, but he's tough in a quiet, law-and-order way, when he has to be.

Sounds incredible, and dull, doesn't it? But it all adds up to one of the most enjoyably exciting plays on Broadway — "Destry Rides Again." Of course, the fact that the Sheriff is the amiable comedian, Andy Griffith, and that the music and dancing are tunelessly gay, does help. But can you imagine a Western without mayhem or murder — just music and mirth? Guess it's about time!

My habits cling to me, somehow, It's seldom I can shake one; The trouble is, I do allow, I'd rather make than break one!

"The joy of Motherhood" is what a woman experiences when all the children are finally in bed!
